

TARA SALT FLAT

During the morning we will leave toward the mountain range taking the international road that connects us with Argentina through the Paso Jama, we will pass by a vega originated by the rio Quepiaco, in this place we will enjoy the beautiful contrast between the mountain range and the vegetation that turns this area into an habitat of different birds as flamingos, Taguas and Ducks. We will continue to the Monks of the Pecan, remainders of volcanic sediment eroded by the wind and the water are the faithful testimony of large eruptions over millions of years ago, despite this environment is generous and allows us to enjoy despite the weather, in a landscape of great beauty. We end up in Tara Salt Flat, visitors say it is one of the most beautiful places among the attractions of San Pedro de Atacama, we will make a short walk along the cathedrals, the Salt Lake rich in flora and fauna and we will enjoy the silence and tranquility in these times, hard to find.
